Economic Mission to the West Coast

With offices in Los Angeles, the Silicon Valley, and San Francisco, the Government of Israel Economic Mission to the West Coast works to enhance mutually beneficial bi-national trade relations between business communities on the West Coast of the United States and their corresponding communities in Israel.

By leveraging its networking capacity and industry knowledge, the Economic Mission is able to seamlessly engage prospective business partners half a world apart. Such actions manifest in an array of high-level connections ranging from brokering introductions to organizing international trade missions.

Under the direction of the Consul for Economic Affairs to the West Coast, Ms. Sigal Admony-Ravid, our operations span a variety of industry sectors in the 12 western-most states including Alaska, Hawaii, Oregon, Washington, California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and Colorado as well as in Israel with a focus on high-tech, security, new media, clean-technology, bio-technology, and consumer goods.
